A. M'ELROY'S

PHILADELPHIA DIRECTORY,

FOR 1837.

CONTAINING

THE NAMES OF THE INHABITANTS, THEIR OCCUPATIONS, PLACES OF BUSINESS, AND DWELLING-HOUSES;

ALSO

A LIST OF THE STREETS, LANES AND WHARVES;

THE

CITY OFFICERS, PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS, AND BANKS,

BESIDES OTHER USEFUL INFORMATION.

PUBLISHED BY A. M'ELROY.

PHILADELPHIA:
PRINTED BY RACKLIFF & JONES,
SOUTH-WEST CORNER OF GEORGE AND SWANWICK STREETS.

1837.

ADVERTISEMENT.

THE first Edition of my New Directory is at length presented to the Public, with what claims to a favourable reception, remains for that Public to decide. One thing however is certain, my desire and efforts have been, to make it as perfect as circumstances would admit. To say that no errors have escaped correction, would be presumption—but I can confidently affirm, that if errors exist, it is not owing to carelessness, but chiefly to circumstances beyond my control. Some of which are the following.

First. The numbering of the Houses and Stores throughout the whole of the City and Districts, is, in many instances, very irregular—and on some of the main streets, it frequently occurs, that houses more than a square apart have the same number—besides, many of the houses are not numbered at all; to which add the fact, that the numerous titles of squares, rows, and places, given to small sections of different streets—and the difficulties from this source will be apparent.

Second. The same name is frequently given to streets in different sections of the City and Districts—for instance, not less than four are called Ann street—two Carpenter—three or four Penn, &c. &c., which often rendered it difficult to give a definite direction to the location of residences and stores mentioned in this work.

Third. The present is my first effort, and necessarily I had to encounter difficulties from this source not anticipated, but which I have diligently endeavoured to overcome and obviate, and for which, I trust the Public will make a due allowance.

The names throughout this work are arranged with referenee to the alphabetical spelling of the christian as well as the surname—as nearly as may be—and due regard has been paid to the proper orthography of the names, although compelled frequently to receive information from persons ignorant, not only of the proper spelling, but of the name of the occupant of the house, as well as his business and its location.

Altogether, as compiler of this work, I have met with difficulties I did not foresee, and therefore present this my first edition to my fellow-citizens, trusting that it will meet with that kind indulgence for which they are so much distinguished, and which has been so freely and frequently exercised on other occasions, pledging myself that my next Edition shall be an improvement on the present.

The Public will observe, that I have given to the streets the names designated by the boards on the corners, and only when I have deemed it more expedient, and as tending to give plainer directions to the inquirer, have I departed from this rule. Arch and Race streets have been used in preference to Mulberry and Sassafras, being the more common names appropriated to them by custom. John street has been changed to Marshall, and I have used Poplar street instead of Poplar lane. The word street has been uniformly omitted as superfluous.

PHILADELPHIA.

No. 5, Roof in a progressive state. No. 6. Roof finished.

Warranted Water tight on a Flat or Elevatad Pitch.

The following Certificates are respectfully submitted.

Philadelphia, March 17, 1836.

Mr. John Henson covered two large stores for me last summer, with his Patent Expansive and Contractive Copper Roofs, and I am satisfied with them in every respect. There are no Roofs superior to them in Philadelphia: I approve of them in relation to their principle and execution.

EZRA STILES ELY.

We the subscribers have our Dry Goods Establishment in these stores, and coucur with the above statement, and do further state for the information of gentlemen about to build, that these Roofs continued perfectly water tight this present inclement winter season.

THOMAS P. REMINGTON,
March 17, 1836. E. D. WHITNEY.

Mr. John Henson covered the store we occupy in Commerce street, with Zinc, on his Patent Expansive and Contractive plan. Our store continued dry during the winter, no water having penetrated the roof, although covered with snow for several weeks. We are satisfied with the utility of Mr. Henson's plan, and take pleasure in recommending it to those about to build.

March 18, 1836. STEWART & BROTHERS.

Philadelphia, March 21, 1836.

I put up a brick building near 8th and Green, last Spring, and covered it with Zinc on the old plan of grooving the joint, owing to the expansion and contraction of the Zinc and the joints having no expansive and contractive power, the roof became so leaky I was obliged to employ Mr. Henson to take it off, work over the Zinc again, and put it on upon his Patent Expansive and Contractive Plan. This re-covering was attended with a great loss of Zinc and labour, and when finished cost me nearly the price of two roofs. No water entered the building since the patent roof was completed, and from its standing the effects of the past winter, I am inclined to believe that it will remain water tight as long as the metal lasts.
